“The Top 50 Construction Law Firms™: Navigating the Industry Through a Pandemic,”

Chamberlain Hrdlicka listed in The Top 50 Construction Law Firms™

Construction Executive

June 18, 2020

In an article published in the June issue of Construction Executive, Chamberlain Hrdlicka was listed among the publication's second annual U.S. ranking of The Top 50 Construction Law Firms in the field.

Additionally, Atlanta-based Shareholder Gina Vitiello provided her insight on the impact the COVID-19 pandemic has had on the construction industry.

Construction projects rely on field and office personnel and the COVID-19 pandemic magnified construction's pre-existing condition of a historical skilled labor shortage. Construction leaders and project managers are considered essential workers on the industry's front lines as projects continue to move forward. However, they are understandably concerned about the current pandemic and general safety.

“While most construction projects are continuing to move forward during quarantine, clients are experiencing reductions in force,” says Vitiello. “Many clients are using labor providers to supplement their own workforce.”
