In an article published on October 6, 2021, in Law360, Philadelphia-based Shareholder Jennifer Karpchuk is profiled following her appointment to a team of city officials and industry experts to develop proposals to help the Philadelphia economy recover from the COVID-19 pandemic. The article shares that Karpchuk is one of 19 members of the Philadelphia Tax Reform Working Group, appointed by Mayor Jim Kenney and the City Council.

"I have extensive knowledge and experience in state and local tax law," said Karpchuk. "I am excited and grateful for the opportunity to bring this information to the table to discuss how we can help businesses and create jobs in our city. As a group, we will brainstorm and discuss ways to help them navigate the impact of the pandemic."

The Tax Reform Working Group consists of administration appointees, Councilmembers and business and community stakeholders who will create an action plan for tax reform that will help the creation of the Fiscal 2023 Budget and Five-Year Financial Plan, which will be released early next year.
